President's Message

When this yearbook is published, 1968-69 will have become history at Gordon Bell. It has been a year in which the students have been avidly involved in many varied and interesting extra-curricular activities.

The student body displayed unusual talents in a charity drive in support of the Howard A. Ferguson—Alcoholic Family Service Centre. Due to fine support and co-operation, particularly by the Junior High's, the drive under Greg Smith and Nancy Delaney raised over $1000. Some of the main events were the floor hockey and basketball games, the sales in the lunchroom, the Coke Dance and "Crush Out I".

While our athletic teams didn't win many championships this year, they did uphold the fine tradition and sportsmanship of Gordon Bell. Some of our outstanding athletes were Neil Lyons, Maureen Brooks, the Burka sisters, Tony Guertin, and Angie Johnson.

The "Purple and Gold" will serve to remind you of the many other activities which have taken place in our school during the past year. These include—the return of the cheerleaders, the Freshmen Girls' City Basketball Championship, the choir's trip to Grand Forks, the Revolution, the school tea, the Crystal Ball, Field Day, Graduation, the Hearts and Flowers Ball, the sale of school rings, the retirement of Mr. White, Miss Davis and Mrs. Longley, the joining of the G.W.S.U., the Reach For the Top team winning its flight, Spring Soul, and the re-publication of the Chimes.

I would also like to recognize the many individuals who deserve credit for their tremendous efforts during the year. To Barb Lofto, Brian O'Leary and the Anthony's for publicity and decoration of the dances, Gary Beckstead for his work on the Constitution Committee, Fiona Lozak and her Pep Club, Mr. Hodgkinson and Mr. Mutchmor for their advice, Jim Swain with the rings, Brian Latocki, the S.C. treasurer, John Van Schndell and the awards, Greg Smith for the charity drive and the elections and finally Gail Burwell for her time and efforts as secretary of the Student Council, and editor of the Chimes.

The entire student body also deserves credit for its support and enthusiasm.

In closing, to the graduates and all the other students the very best of luck in the future.

Principal's Message

TO THE GRADUATES OF GORDON BELL SCHOOL

Every year around this time I wrack my brains trying to think of a new message to give to our departing students. This year I should like to repeat a few words of advice that I have written in a previous Year Book and that I feel are very appropriate at this time.

There are three ways in which to describe your relationships to other people. Two of them are extremes, and the third is the mean between them. Under one extreme, anarchy, you may do as you like, provided you can. You are responsible for your actions to yourself alone and are not interested in how they affect other people. Under the other extreme, slavery, you may never do as you like, but only as you are told. You are not expected to show any personal initiative.

Somewhere between these two extremes, there is a third way of life—democracy. You have freedom of choice, limited by your responsibilities to others. Don't place so much emphasis on freedom of choice that you ignore responsibility for its consequences. Always consider what effect your actions will have on others. Your task is to maintain a balance between the freedom of the individual on the one hand, and the welfare of society on the other.

We can and do measure your achievement in mathematics, history and science. There are other more intangible achievements that are not so easily measured. As students of Gordon Bell you have had an excellent chance to obtain high academic achievement. But we, as teachers, are interested in your full development. We feel that in such a school system as ours, you have had ample opportunities to develop mentally, spiritually, physically, and socially.

Gordon Bell is a great school—none better. You hold its good name in your hands, for by your lives will Gordon Bell be judged. We are confident that its reputation is in good hands. This year's crop of graduates is one of which we are justly proud.

In closing I should like on behalf of the teaching staff and student body to congratulate Mr. Williams on his promotion to the principalship of Hugh John Macdonald School. Our loss is their gain. Mr. Williams has made a great contribution to Gordon Bell School both as a teacher and a principal. Personally, I should like to express my thanks to him for his tremendous help and his friendship during my four years in this school. Our best wishes and our sincere thanks go with you, Mr. Williams, as you join the "graduates" of Gordon Bell School.

Good Luck and Best Wishes to all the graduates of 1969.

Principal

Vice-Principals' Messages

I suppose the most notable aspect of this school year at Gordon Bell was that it marked the beginning of our "experiment" after a year and a half of hard work and planning by the staff. This year has seen many changes, some have worked well, others will require modification.

To those who will graduate from high school this year I would like to extend a special wish for good luck and success in all your aspirations. It has truly been my pleasure to be associated with a group who have demonstrated in so many ways their maturity and ability to accept the responsibilities which together are a hallmark of Gordon Bell graduates.

R. Mutchmor

Today I was reminded by a member of the Yearbook Staff, a pretty but demanding young lady, that my "two hundred word article" was now due! So, like any student facing an assignment "to be turned in tomorrow without fail", I scribbled several sentences trying to settle on a "message".

An article which appeared in a magazine a few years ago came to mind. It was headed, "Do You Act or React?" As I recall, the article told of a Quaker who always spoke politely and cheerfully to a fellow worker whose replies were invariably sullen. When asked by his friend why he continued to be so polite to the ugly mannered fellow, the Quaker replied, "Why not? Why should I let him decide how I am going to act?"

Now that seems to be a pretty good message as it suggests real freedom if we become masters of our own actions and attitudes and refuse to allow another to determine whether we shall be rude or gracious, elated or depressed.

To complete my two hundred words I will say that in this Yearbook you will find the pictures of the finest people, Gordon Bell people.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Football at Gordon Bell was definitely disappointing in 1968. Although the team suffered six defeats in a row, it must be remembered that G. B.'s players played their hearts out. Without making excuses, it should be remembered that the team consisted mainly of raw rookies.

It was not until their third game that most of the players found out what the game was all about. By then the team showed marked improvements, but simply ran out of time. Coaches Wilkes, Simpson, and Duncan must be congratulated for their time and effort. Next year will be different! But as in every sport, winning is not everything, but the effort is.

This year's awards:

REACH FOR THE TOP

Gordon Bell extends its congratulations to Dave Moir, Dale Dunlop, Frank Kriger and Scott Ellis for the fine way in which they represented our school this year. The boys made the Provincial Playdowns but lost against Kelvin and Churchill.

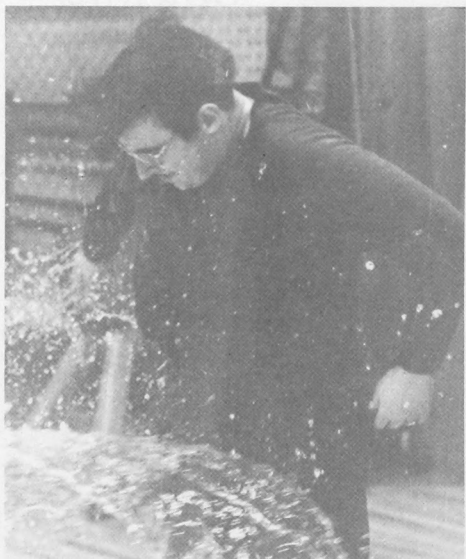

FROLIC COMMITTEE

This year's Frolic Committee spent many long hours planning Gordon Bell's dances. They also did a fantastic job on decorations. The Yearbook Staff wishes to apologize for lack of a picture.

YEARBOOK TYPISTS

The Yearbook Staff wishes to thank Gisela Rempel, Debbie Edmonds, Pat Niven, and Hanna Jyrkkanen for their sore fingers and blisters obtained while typing up our yearbook. We couldn't have done without them.

Sr. High Science

This was the most successful year the Senior High Science Club has had due to its numerous tours, trips, and speakers. The Science Club toured such places as the University of Manitoba, and the Centennial Concert Hall. Places visited included Minneapolis and Grand Forks for the J.E.T.S. competition. The Club won second place. Various speakers lectured to the club; they averaged about three a month. At the Science Fair most of the projects by the members won ribbons.

CHARITY DRIVE

This year's very successful Charity Drive was organized by three students Greg Smith, Nancy Delaney, and Brian O'Leary. Over $1,000.00 was raised by the student body to aid the Howard A. Ferguson Alcoholic Family Centre. The week was filled with activities including a floor hockey game, a hootenanny, and a slave auction. The Charity Drive was packed full of events and everybody found something they enjoyed.

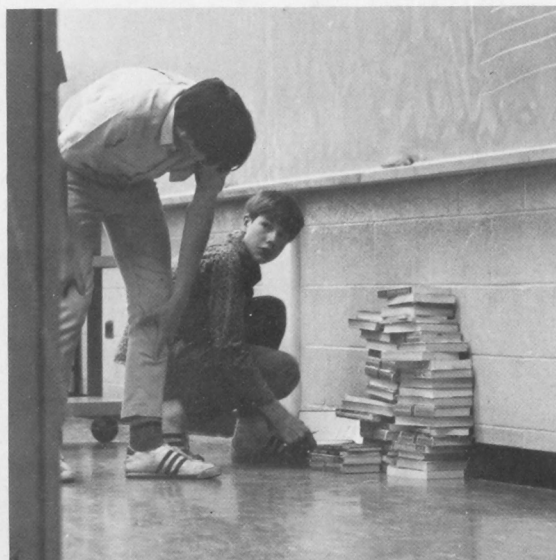

SNOWBALL

The first Junior High dance was called the Snowball. Music was provided by records and the place was packed. A great success!

HEARTS AND FLOWERS

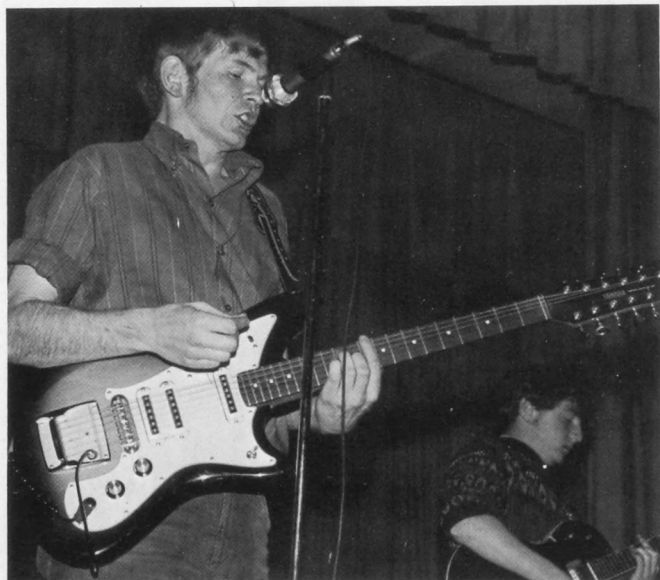

Another success was the Hearts and Flowers Ball, held on St. Valentine's Day. This time entertainment was by the Blizzard. Again the dance was crowded.

REVOLUTION

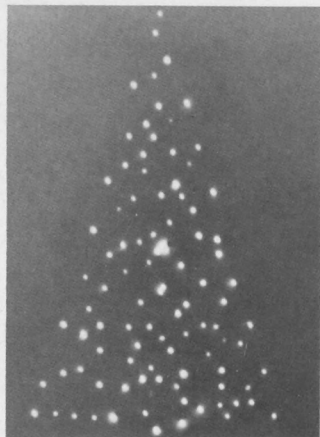

The Revolution Dance was the most successful dance this year. The Living Soul Device gave a great show. Tony Guertin won this year's Mr. Football title. Runner-up was Tom Cormack.

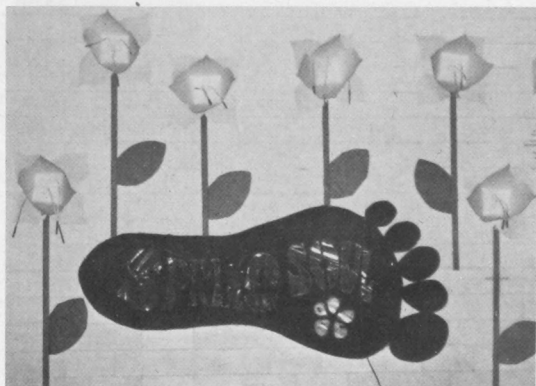

CRYSTAL

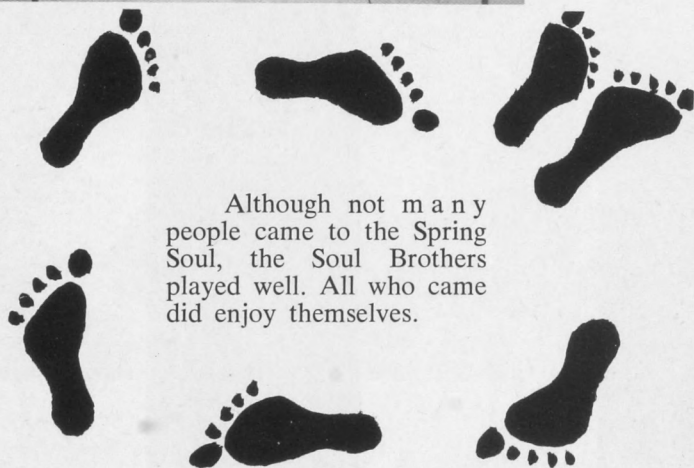

BALL

G. B.'s Crystal Ball was held just before Christmas. Jane Carruthers was crowned Snow Queen and Gary Batters, Snow King. The Mongrels provided the music. The dance turned out to be a wonderful success.

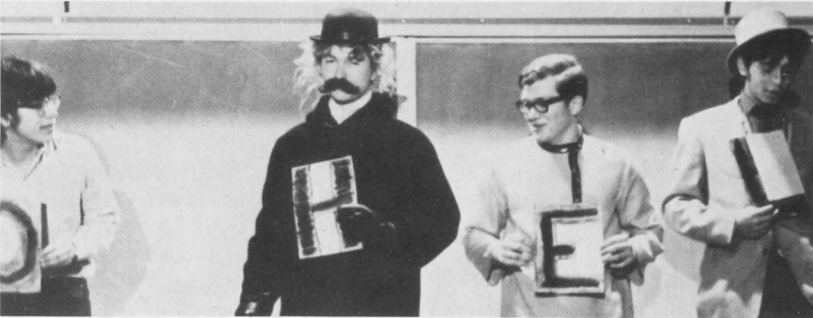

SPRING SOUL

Although not many people came to the Spring Soul, the Soul Brothers played well. All who came did enjoy themselves.

YE OLD ALUMNI

This year's Alumni Day was organized, as usual, by Mr. Gaston. The program featured basketball and volleyball games, folksinging, gymnastics, and a few songs by the choir.

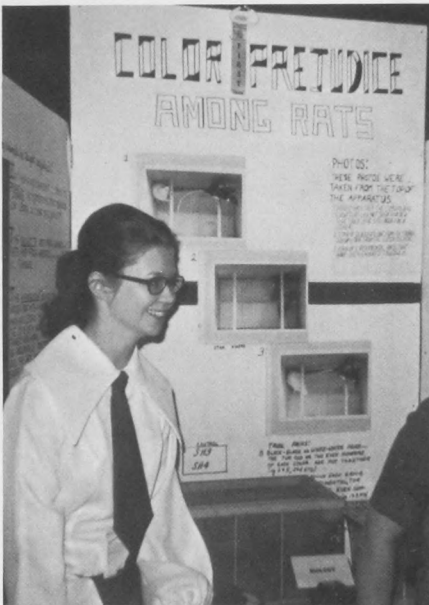

SCIENCE FAIR

The Science Club, one of Gordon Bell's most active and successful groups has enjoyed another exciting and eventful year. Three speakers every month kept everyone interested in the regular meetings and also inspired several members to start projects.

The Science Club was proud to have six individual entries, and a group project to represent Gordon Bell at the Science Fair. Entered were: Tom Young—Model Lake; Linda Andrusco—Analog Computer; Vernon Taylor—Hovercraft (2nd General Science); Dave Hughes—Probability (3rd Mathematics Prize); John Bates—Computers (2nd Maths Prize); Shelley Hlady—Color Prejudice Among Rats (1st Biology).

Shelley was also one of the four project winners selected to represent Manitoba in the Canada-Wide Science Fair.

Color Prejudice Among Rats

The purpose of this experiment was to find out if animals can learn a color prejudice, if prejudice is defined as a prejudgement involving dislike or fear. The subjects used were female rats, four albino, which I will refer to as white, and four hooded, which I will call black. The rats were tested and found to be all initially compatible. They were then placed into either of the two groups randomly, two of each color going to both groups. The first group, the experimental, was to show how the rats reacted with the conditions the experimenter supplied, and in this case whether they would form a color prejudice. The other group, the control, was to see how the rats would react normally.

Each rat was placed in a shocking apparatus six times daily. The apparatus was a rectangular box with a floor composed of brass rods which were connected to a transformer so that when it was so desired a mild shock could be given to anything touching two consecutive rods. When the rats were placed in the apparatus, they were placed one half of each days trials (or three times) with a rat of their own color, and one half of the time with a rat of the other color. When with a rat of their own color they were allowed to react normally and given a carrot as positive reinforcement. They were then put back in their cages after a two minute time period. If two rats were being placed in the apparatus which were not the same color they would both be either from the experimental or control groups. If they were from the latter, they were again allowed to react normally, observations being recorded, and the rats being removed after two minutes. The experimental pairs were shocked for about three to seven seconds if they touched each other in the same instance. They could escape the shock by climbing on either of the two wooden dowels which were horizontally positioned above the floor.

After each rat had been in the apparatus over a period of three weeks for forty times with rats of both colors, a marked difference appeared between those animals in the different groups. The control animals still were normally friendly to others of both colors, while the experimental animals completely avoided other rats that were not their own color. It should be pointed out that each rat was only shocked with the one other rat, and mistakenly associated the shock with the rat's color rather than the individual rat.

Probability and Statistics

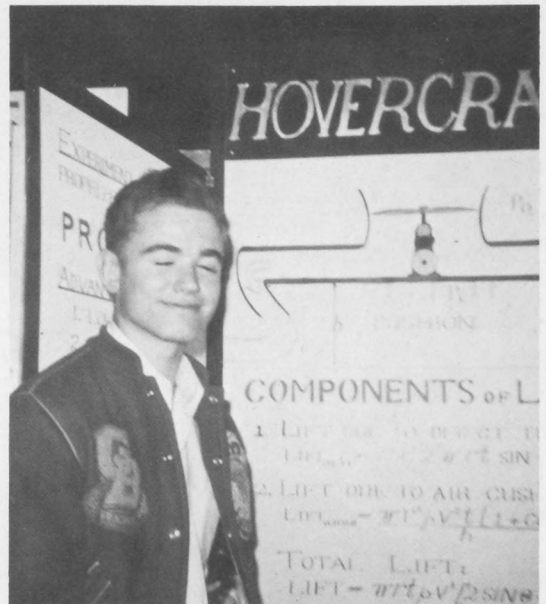

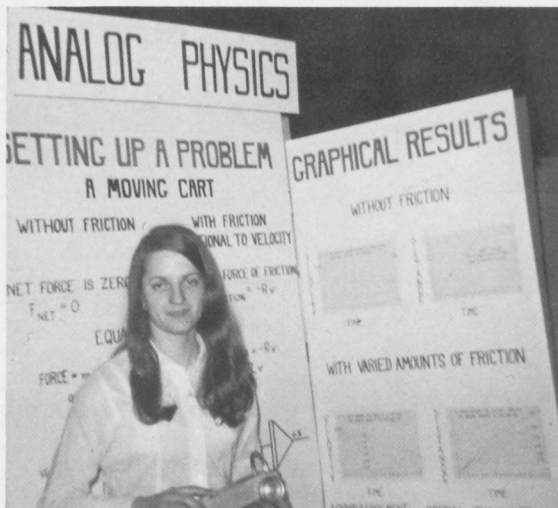

The study of probability is a very interesting one. Probability has applications in business, law, medicine, war and gambling. The study involves such mathematics as permutations, combinations and plenty of advanced algebra.

After reading a book by Warren Weaver called "Lady Luck", I became interested in this subject. With the help of a computer on some of the equations involved, for example the square of the ninth root of two hundred and fifty-six, I managed to compare probabilities, predictions for tossing a tail with a coin, rolling a seven with a pair of dice, drawing a heart from a pack of fifty two playing cards, and getting a red on a roulette wheel, with the actual outcome. The comparison was nearly perfect.

Using the Poisson formula (quite a fishy one), I compared predictions for the death of a German army cavalry soldier by being kicked by a horse and the actual records kept for the years 1875 to 1894. The results were almost exact.

All in all, the fair was very rewarding for after the "stimulating" experience I walked away with a third prize in Mathematics and $25 to keep my wallet happy.

David Hughes.

Computer Programming

This project presented the basic ideas in the field of programming. Besides a brief description of a simple computer program, there were several programs already written, illustrating the many and varied uses of the computer. These programs ranged from a poker-playing program to one that will change a huge number with one hundred and twenty-six digits from base ten to base two in just over one minute. If this were attempted by hand, it would take a team of mathematicians most of their lives. There is also a program that could be used in grade 12 to solve all the gas equations that are found in grade 12 chemistry. The project placed second on the mathematics division of the Science Fair.

John Bates.

GRAND FORKS

On the morning of May 2, 1969 a group of sleepy choir members boarded two buses enroute to Grand Forks, North Dakota. The entertainment on the buses included radios, guitars and card games. The program was ended when we arrived at Central High School in downtown Grand Forks.

On arriving at Central we were served with a free lunch which the students either ate heartily or starved before performing in front of the school. The American students enjoyed the Gordon Bell choir with its numerous selections very much. Our accompanist Tom Wong, was given a standing ovation for the three pieces he played. After everyone was introduced to his host we all separated going back to our host's house where they served us dinner.

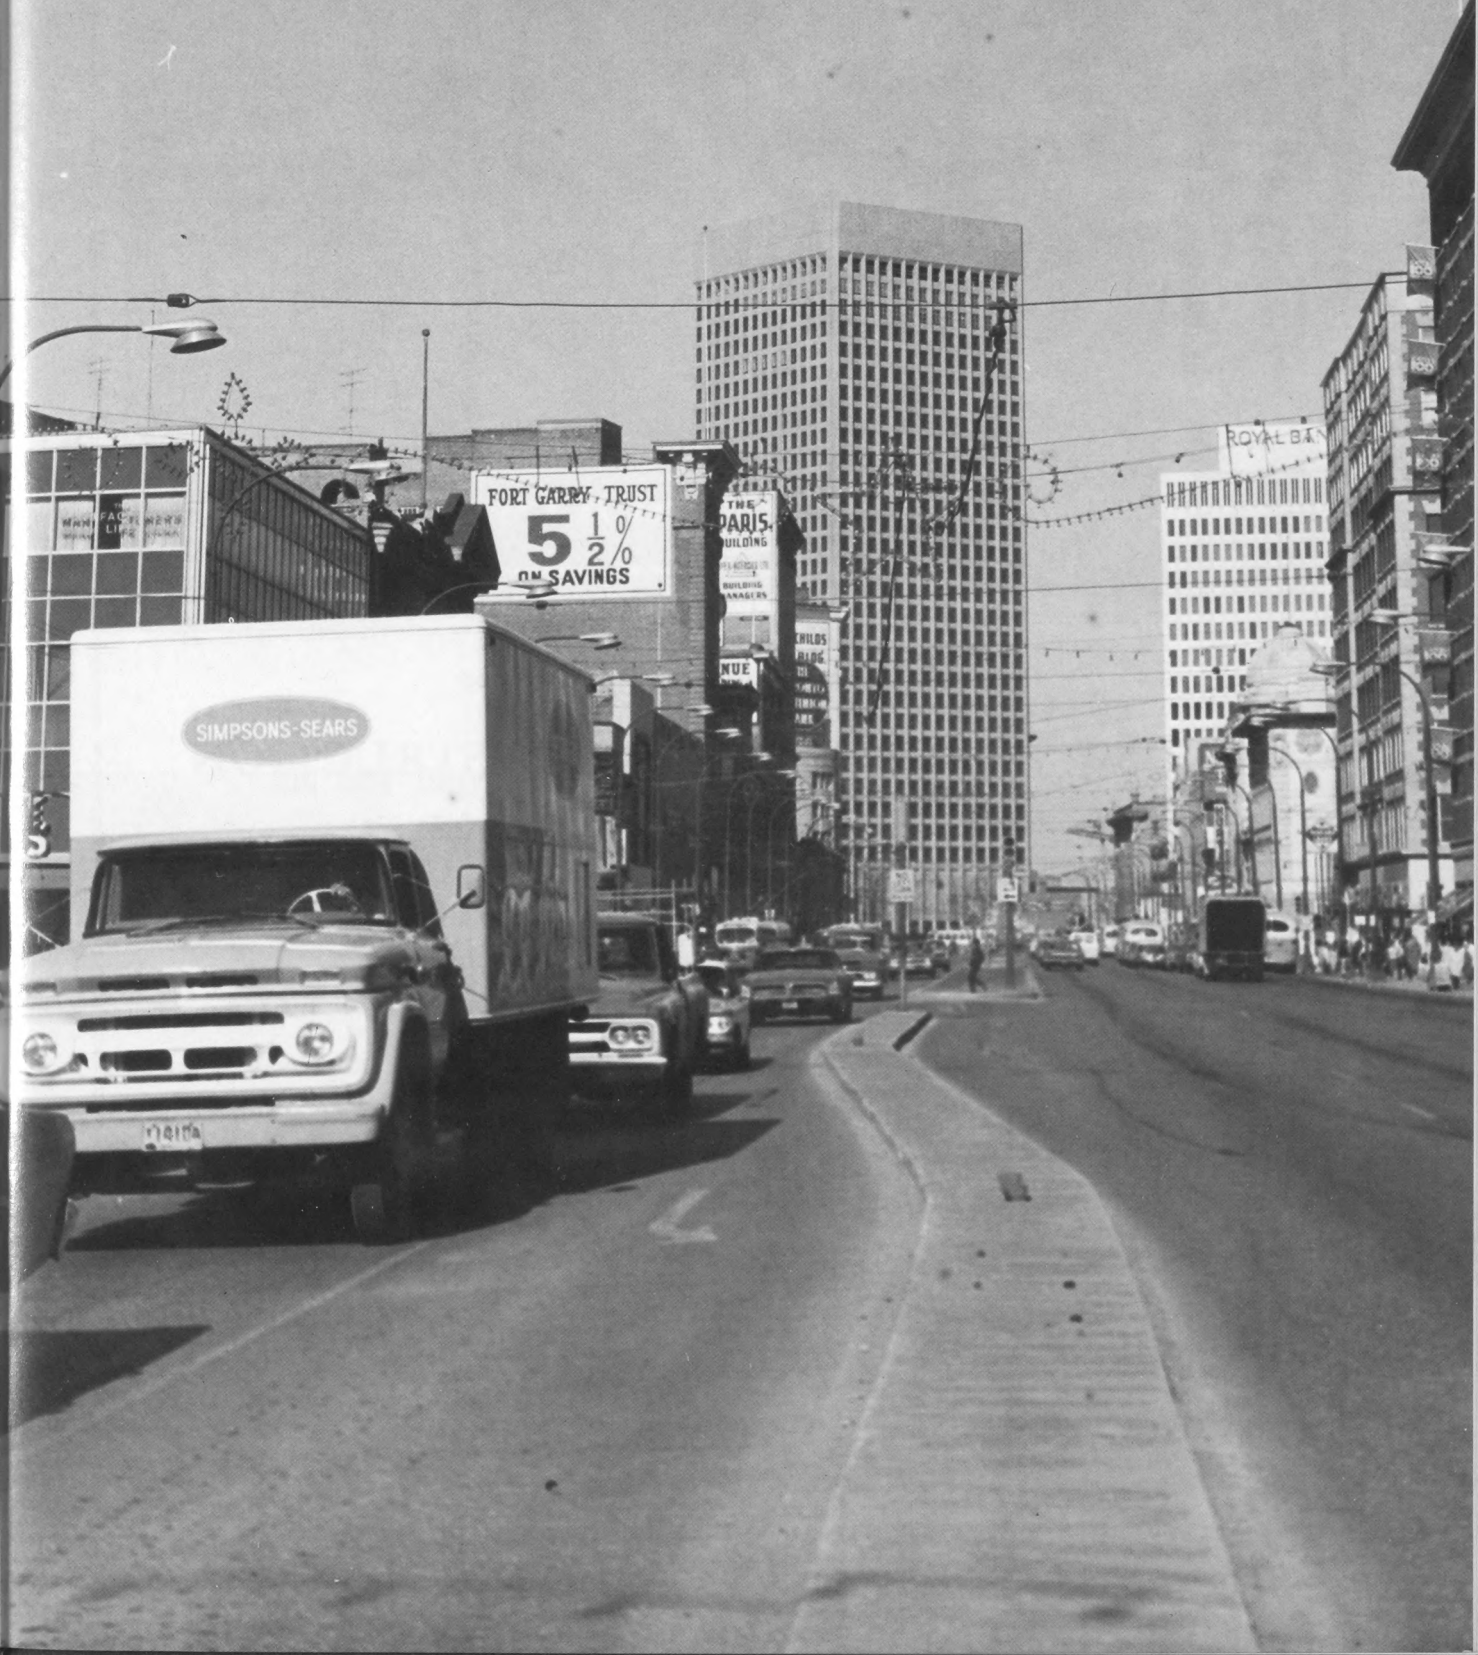

In the evening a party was held for the Gordon Bell Choir and the Grand Forks Orchestra. After such games as "grey duck" and "red rover" the party really started "swinging". The next morning was spent shopping in the numerous stores. After this we went back to the school to await the buses.

On arriving at the border on the homeward journey, we were surprised and dismayed when the customs officers checked the entire seventy-five students' luggages. Many were caught with bought articles which they had not planned on paying duties for. Most of them though, were quite happy when they did get away tax free. All in all it was a quite enjoyable trip.

Teachers... At Work!

How Selfish can you be and still boost CANADIAN OWNERSHIP?

Furthermore. . .

What's it got to do with high school students?

You probably know that much more than 50 percent of manufacturing facilities and resource industries in Canada are owned by people outside Canada. This outside ownership is even spreading to the farming industry with more and more farm land being purchased by non-Canadian interests.

Now, there is one business sector in our Canadian economy that is TOTALLY owned by Canadians, and not just by a handful of affluent Canadians. Co-operatives across Canada are owned by more than 1,000,000 Canadians, many of them right in your community. AND . . . this Co-op ownership cannot be purchased by outsiders. So the more we develop Co-ops, the more we develop CANADIAN OWNERSHIP.

SELFISHNESS? Well, as a Co-op member-owner you own the profits made on the money you spend at your Co-op. Last year, Red River Co-op returned three cents on each dollar of purchases by each member . . . three percent. So build Canadian Ownership and at the same time own the profits made on the dollars you spend. High school students of today will be running Canada tomorrow. How you feel about Canadians Owning Canada is very important. So it will pay YOU . . . and CANADA . . . to make Co-ops strong.
